NOT A LIVING IN IT.

Walter Besant says that writers should not depend on literature. There is not a great deal of money to be made in literature, and the man or woman who goes into that profession simply with an eye to money-getting would better get out of it. The profession of literature is a good deal like crime—it is its own reward, and there are those who are satisfied that should be the case, says the Critic. People that like to write, like to see what they would rather make a poor living with their pen than a handsome living in commercial pursuits.

Walter Besant's advice to young men is: "Do not attempt to live by literature. Earn your money in some other way. At all costs, at any cost, be independent of your literary work. There is hardly any work which will earn you a man a living for as much literary work and study as is good for him. Look at the men who have been journalists, civil servants, medical men, lawyers—anything. Be independent."

Be independent. There is one thing in my own experience which I may speak of myself in connection with literature, and which I look back with great satisfaction. It is that I was able to resist the great temptation to live by writing. I will tell you the story of it. I was a poor fellow, and I was in a very bad way when I began to write. I was a poor fellow, and I was in a very bad way when I began to write. I was a poor fellow, and I was in a very bad way when I began to write.

A THANKSGIVING GIFT.

It was a beautiful farm that the flowers were in. It was well fenced, well watered, and above all, well kept. All the Howes were very proud of it, from Sam himself down to Benny, the youngest of the seven sons.

"We've done pretty fair," old man Sam went on, looking out over the beautiful fields, and then looking fondly at the seven lads; "we've done pretty fair."

Albany would gaze upon the seven lads, and smile her patient, pleasant smile that they all knew and loved; and perhaps Benny would creep up beside her and smooth her brown hair, which was turning a trifle gray in places, and say something about "mother helpin' a lot."

Certainly mother had helped "a lot."

"Do you know how we Italians love? We love with a fire such as you cold Englishmen never know. She lighted this fire in my heart solely to gratify her own vain love of conquest. She made me love her; and I loved her as madly as any man ever loved woman. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman."

"She loved me," said Benny, "and I loved her. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman."

"She loved me," said Benny, "and I loved her. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman. I never loved any other woman."

Long ago, when the farm was a wilderness, a brown-haired bride had come from the states, and lent all her willing aid to make it what it was.

But now trouble had come suddenly into this prosperous and contented home. The father, who had been a soldier in the great war, had been wounded, and he was now a cripple. The mother, who had been a soldier's wife, had been widowed, and she was now a widow.

The father, who had been a soldier in the great war, had been wounded, and he was now a cripple. The mother, who had been a soldier's wife, had been widowed, and she was now a widow.

While Hyacinth was in prison, a long year ago, for Alan Branton, he was as sure of her innocence as he was of the truth of heaven, but he was not sure of the truth of earth. He was not sure of the truth of earth. He was not sure of the truth of earth.

He was not sure of the truth of earth. He was not sure of the truth of earth. He was not sure of the truth of earth. He was not sure of the truth of earth.

When she awoke from her long sleep, she was to find his arms round her, and his kisses were on her face. "Oh, my love," she said, "the agony of the past night!" He looked at her, and he said, "I think no more of it," he said, "I think no more of it."

"I think no more of it," he said, "I think no more of it." "I think no more of it," he said, "I think no more of it."

Count Fieschi died that night; and before another day had passed his confession was spread all over England. The father, who had been a soldier in the great war, had been wounded, and he was now a cripple. The mother, who had been a soldier's wife, had been widowed, and she was now a widow.

The father, who had been a soldier in the great war, had been wounded, and he was now a cripple. The mother, who had been a soldier's wife, had been widowed, and she was now a widow.

Hyacinth stood by the green grave where Francis Vane slept with his wife. The father, who had been a soldier in the great war, had been wounded, and he was now a cripple. The mother, who had been a soldier's wife, had been widowed, and she was now a widow.

Miss Sarah, with a toss of her black curls. Pete and Benny did not get out of bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed.

They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed.

Pete and Benny did not get out of bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed.

They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed. They were glad to be in bed.

Why was it that Mrs. Howe's face grew so white as she answered soothly to him? Why was it that she looked so pale when the other boys came trooping in to learn the news. It seemed to them that if Pete and Benny lived the new sister, she would suit them best. Just then Pete came in from the orchard, with his father just behind him. There was a distressed expression on Sam Howe's usually placid countenance.

"Never mind, mother," he said, "I'll count all right. These boys are used to a mother's scolding, and I'm sure that the boys are used to a mother's scolding."

"She was just a showin' 'em how particular boys ought to be about shettin' 'em, and they ought to be," it makes a heart-dreaded place. Pete wasn't a thinkin', said Pete's father, tenderly, "and that was how he come about."

"You ought to be a little more particular," said the father, "and they ought to be a little more particular."

"The boys have made a mistake," said the father, "and they ought to be a little more particular." "The boys have made a mistake," said the father, "and they ought to be a little more particular."

"German Syrup"

William McKeehan, Druggist at Bloomington, Mich. "I have had the Asthma badly ever since I came out of the army and though I have been in the drug business for fifteen years, and have tried nearly everything on the market, nothing has given me the slightest relief until a few months ago, when I used Bessie's German Syrup. I am now glad to acknowledge the great good it has done me. I am greatly indebted during the day and at night to sleep without the least trouble."

A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson on Friday evening last at their residence on Fifth street south, and a very enjoyable time was the result. With the surprise came a nice easy chair which was given to Mrs. Wilson on behalf of those present by H. C. Stivers who made the presentation speech. Mr. Wilson was not overlooked in the matter, but was presented with a saw-knife of improved pattern, with instructions how to use it. The details were arranged by Ald. L. P. Johnson, and those present besides him were H. Patterson, A. Olson, D. McIntosh, N. J. Hatt, Henry Moberg, John Carlson, Jerry Crowley, H. C. Stivers, A. Rosenberg, Nels Peterson, Victor Gustafson, and Peter Lewis.
The citizens in this part of the state are desirous of seeing the game law lived up to but it seems that some combination of circumstances has led to a compromise with the Minnesota end of the game commission in regard to the shipping of venison. The law states that the season closes on Nov. 25, and in accordance a number of saddles were seized by Deputy Game Warden Paine on Monday night at Staples and on Tuesday night A. F. Ferris, a member of the board, seized eight saddles at the express office in this city in compliance with the law and instructions from W. P. Anders, the executive agent. After this was done telegrams came from Mr. Anders, to return all seizures and let things take their course until further notice. Dec. 1st. As the law is perfectly clear on the subject, Mr. Ferris was somewhat wroth at receiving notice one day to enforce the law, and the next day to overlook the violations. The end is not yet.

A Pleasant Anniversary.
The members of St. Andrews society celebrated their anniversary last evening by a ball and banquet in the Columbian block, nearly 300 invited guests being present. The occasion was one of unusual interest and enjoyment, and the members of the society are to be congratulated over the manner in which they entertained their guests at their first "Hagis." As stated on the invitations supper was served at 9 o'clock, and during the interval between that and the dancing a very fine musical program was rendered, and speeches were made by the president of the society, Dr. G. S. McPherson, Wm. Williamson, C. D. Johnson, Mayor Hemstead and H. C. Stivers. The floor was then cleared and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.
The society in Brainerd is composed of about fifty-five members, and while the organization is scarcely ten months' old its growth is steady and the treasury is in excellent condition. The object of the organization is to advance the interests of Scotchmen, assist the indigent of that nationality and also to instill an interest in Scotch games and music. The officers newly elected are:
President—Dr. G. S. McPherson.
First Vice President—W. Williamson.
Second Vice President—Kenneth McDonald.
Secretary—A. G. Mitchell.
Treasurer—Larry McPherson.
Wedded.
The wedding of Mr. Charles Lightfoot to Miss Kittie Meekins occurred Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, at St. Francis Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating, the ceremony being followed with High Mass. The church was well filled with friends of the young couple, who had assembled to witness the ceremony. The bride was charmingly attired in light blue silk, trimmed with brocade and pearls and carried a garland of roses. The groom was attended by Hon. W. Hemstead and P. Thieland. The bride and groom are both well known to most of our readers, the former being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meekins, of East Brainerd, the groom being a fireman in the employ of the Northern Pacific company. Beaver Broke His Thumb.
The 20 round glove contest advertised to take place at the Olympic Theatre on Wednesday night, resulted in a victory for Fitzpatrick in the second round, his opponent, Thos. Beaver, breaking his right thumb, and being unable to continue the fight. The first round of the fight is said to have been a very clever exhibition, and those who witnessed it expected to see a determined contest, as both men showed that they were well up in the pugilistic art. At the close of the second round, which was hard fought, Beaver's right thumb was injured to such an extent that he was unable to continue, and the referee, Thos. Cavanaugh, gave the fight to Fitzpatrick. The audience, although not large, was sorely disappointed at this termination of affairs, and many thought the injury was merely a blind but such was not the case as the following affidavit will show:

To whom it may concern:
This is to certify that I have this day examined the right hand of Thos. Beaver, and find that the metacarpal bone of the thumb on said right hand is broken. A. F. GROSS, M. D.
Fitzpatrick stated to the audience that he much desired to have a second contest with McElroy and gave it out cold that if he did he would win.
Beaver claims he would have bested Fitzpatrick but for the accident, and has issued a challenge to fight him for $100 anywhere after the month of December.
Sudden Post-Office Change.
On Sunday last after the shades of night had fallen the Brainerd post-office was removed from its location in the Sloop-Atterton block, to a location in the Gallup building on 7th street, and people who came down town Monday morning for their mail were confronted with a bare room. But then the Brainerd public is getting used to such things, and it didn't take long to locate the office, for the DISPATCH had given a note of warning in its last issue, although it had stated on good authority that the change would not take place until Dec. 1st. While there is an undercurrent of sentiment that does not approve of the manner in which the shift was made, and a deep muttering from people who declare that they will see whether these things can be done in opposition to their wishes, it is not expected that there will be any serious outcome.

The ball given by the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Gardner Hall on Wednesday evening was a grand success, and the merry throng of dancers enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent.

A very pleasant dancing party was given at the residence of Geo. Frost, at Pine Lake on the Pine River road, last Friday evening, about 40 couples being present. A very pleasant time was enjoyed.

W. E. Seeley, while in St. Paul Monday, closed a government contract for surveying in the northern part of the state, and will leave to begin the work in a day or two. He will be absent nearly two months.

According to the Perham Bulletin Alex. Van Praag has entered into an arrangement with the proprietors of the opera houses at Little Falls, Brainerd, Wadena and Detroit, and will furnish them with companies.

In speaking of the Shedy matter the Little Falls Transcript says: "The proceedings under which he was released were entirely proper, and the authorities of this state had no right to keep Shedy in custody under the circumstances."

Rev. T. Tonnason, who has for some time past had charge of the Norwegian Lutheran Churches at Brainerd, Long Lake and Little Falls is no longer in this field, and his successor has not yet been selected. Until the vacancy is regularly filled it is expected that the church authorities at Minneapolis will see that the local pulpit is supplied.—Transcript.

N. B. Chase will leave next week for his field of labor on the Chippewa reservation, he having received his commission and qualified for the position. The work, if done in a thorough, systematic manner, will take from four to six years to complete.
The gentlemen in charge of the work get $6 per day, and pay their own expenses.

A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs.
Thomas Wilson on Friday evening last at their residence on Fifth street south, and a very enjoyable time was the result. With the surprise came a nice easy chair which was given to Mrs. Wilson on behalf of those present by H. C. Stivers who made the presentation speech. Mr. Wilson was not overlooked in the matter, but was presented with a saw-buck of improved pattern, with instructions how to use it. The details were arranged by Ald. L. P. Johnson, and those present besides him were H. Patterson, A. Olson, D. McIntosh, N. J.
Hatt, Henry Moberg, John Carlson, Jerry Crowley, H. C. Stivers, A. Rosenberg, Nels Peterson, Victor Gustafson, and Peter Lewis.

The citizens in this part of the state are desirous of seeing the game law lived up to but it seems that some combination of circumstances has led to a compromise with the Minneapolis end of the game commission in regard to the shipping of venison.
The law states that the season closes on Nov. 25, and in accordance a number of saddles were seized by Deputy Game Warden Paine on Monday night at Staples and on Tuesday night A. F. Ferris, a member of the board, seized eight saddles at the express office in this city in compliance with the law and instructions from W. P.
Andrus, the executive agent. After this was done telegrams came from Mr. Andrus to return all seizures and let things take their course until today, Dec. 1st. As the law is perfectly clear on the subject, Mr. Ferris was somewhat wroth at receiving notice one day to enforce the law, and the next day to overlook the violations. The end is not yet.

A Pleasant Anniversary.
The members of St. Andrews society celebrated their anniversary last evening by a ball and banquet in the Columbian block, nearly 300 invited guests being present. The occasion was one of unusual interest and enjoyment, and the members of the society are to be congratulated over the manner in which they entertained their guests at their first "Hagis."
As stated on the invitations supper was served at 9 o'clock, and during the interval between that and the dancing a very fine musical program was rendered, and speeches were made by the president of the society, Dr. G. S. McPherson, Wm. Williamson, C. D. Johnson, Mayor Hemstead and H. C. Stivers. The floor was then cleared and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The society in Brainerd is composed of about fifty-five members, and while the organization is scarcely ten months' old its growth is steady and the treasury is in excellent condition.
The object of the organization is to advance the interests of Scotchmen, assist the indigent of that nationality and also to instill an interest in Scotch games and music. The officers now elected are:

President—Dr. G. S. McPherson.
First Vice President—W. Williamson.
Second Vice President—Kenneth McDonald.
Secretary—A. G. Mitchell.
Treasurer—Larry McPherson.

Wedded.
The wedding of Mr. Charles Lightfoot to Miss Kittie Meekins occurred Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, at St. Francis Catholic Church, Rev. Fr.
Lynch officiating, the ceremony being followed with High Mass. The church was well filled with friends of the young couple, who had assembled to witness the ceremony. The bride was charmingly attired in light blue silk, trimmed with brocade and pearls and carried a garland of roses. The bride was attended by Miss Aggie Meekins and Miss Maggie Johnson.

The groom was attended by Hon. W.
Hemstead and P. Thieland. The bride and groom are both well known to most of our readers, the former being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Wm. Meekins, of East Brainerd, the groom being a fireman in the employ of the Northern Pacific company. After the ceremony the party partook of a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, and started for their new home in St. Paul on the noon train followed by the well wishes of the entire community. Several very nice wedding gifts were tendered them.

Betsey Pherson were married last Saturday by Rev. A. F. Nelson.

Sudden Post-Office Change.
On Sunday last after the shades of in the Slipp Atherton block, to a location in the Gallup building on 7th street, and people who came down town Monday morning for their mail

But then the Brainerd public is getting used to such things, and it didn't take long to locate the office, for the ing in its last issue, although it had stated on good authority that the change would not take place until Dec. 1st. While there is an under-from people who declare that they will see whether these things can be done in opposition to their wishes, it is not expected that there will be any serious outcome.

Veon's New Cartridge.

A. E. Veon, the Laurel street jeweler, has just been granted a patent on an invention which bids fair to revolutionize the shooting of shot guns.
The patent is on a cartridge or shell and the main points of the invention are that it prevents wear and enlargement of the muzzles of choke bore guns, reduces the recoil and consequent kicking in shooting such guns, produces better targets with less ammunition than can be accomplished by ordinary loading, and secures greater concentration and penetration and more uniform distribution of the shot. Numerous trials have proved that with this cartridge shot can be thrown one-third farther with one-half the powder than with the ordinary shell.

There is no doubt but that the inventor has a very fine thing and will reap a good reward for his discovery as he has been and is now in communication with parties who are very anxious to secure the handling of the goods. He has as yet made no definite arrangements and unless he succeeds in placing the making of them with some factory satisfactory to him self he will manufacture them himself either in Brainerd or Minneapolis.
The patents extend over the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

You are especially invited to call at Veon's, in Gardner's block, and examine his jewelry and get his profit-shaving prices. Do not forget about this.

In the Sick of Time.
"Twas midnight and the light from the single lamp which adorned the bridge across the river yawning pittily beneath, served but to emphasize the inky blackness of the night, and to make its darkness more visible.
A figure was on the bridge. It was a woman. Determination and despair were written on her every feature and her dark hair waved in the wind like the black flag of the pirates of old.

"One plunge" she whispered, "and all will be over." She cast about her one last despairing look, and her eyes beheld the lanterns of the city bill posters, who sleep not, neither do they eat, and who were about to commence their daily toil. Quickly they spread their paper on the bill board before her, and by the aid of the lantern she discerned the words, "John Dillon—A Model Husband." A light of infinite relief spread over her features and she joyously exclaimed "At last! At last I have found him for whom I have searched these many weary years. 'Tis he! A model husband! My life is saved!" and so saying she hastily left the bridge and the river was cheated of its prey.—Chicago Evening Journal.

Expression of Esteem.

The Ministers' Association of Brainerd, in view of the departure from this city of the Rev. J. A. Jenkins, pastor of the Baptist church, desire to place upon record this expression of the esteem in which their brother is held by those with whom he has been associated during the past four years.

In this time, by his fidelity to the principles of his church, his generous charity, his genial bearing and his unvarying courtesy, he has gained the confidence and affection of those among whom he has labored.

To his new field of duty he carries the best wishes and the earnest prayers of those who have known him here. May the God of all grace strengthen him for the performance of every duty and guide him unto all truth.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Aitkin Age calls to the notice of its Grand Rapids contemporaries that the name of the judge of this judicial district is G. W. Holland, not J. G. Holland, as "J. G." died some twelve years ago and was the chief editor of Scribner's.

It is among the possibilities that Rev. Mr. Seales, who preached here last Sunday, will locate here and divide his time between here and East Brainerd, but nothing definite has been decided upon.—Aitkin Age.

The occupants of one of the ice boats took an involuntary bath in the lake last Saturday night. The party consisted of G. H. Porter, Chas. M.
Blanding, Miss Brucie Walker, Miss Minnie Lange, and the small boy who is inevitably obtrusive on such occasions. They had been enjoying a fine sail for some time, but in nearing the point opposite the landing they all went "ker plunk" into a large air hole. Fortunately the water was only about four feet deep, or this mishap might have terminated more disastrously. As it was they all took their wetting good naturedly, and chattered merrily at they hastened to their homes.—Detroit Record.

W. Williamson, general foreman at the N. P. shops, has resigned his position. His successor has not yet been appointed.

A social party was given at the rooms of the Chequamegon Club last evening, which was quite largely attended.

The new steam heating plant recently put into the Odd Fellows block by R. H. Paine, is now in operation, and works like a charm.

The cars on the electric line are being provided with vestibules on each end as a protection to the motor men and conductors, and in accordance with the state law.

The people of Gull River fear that John Sandy, of that place, who went in quest of deer some two weeks ago, is lost, as no word has been received from him since he left.

Tickets for the Knights of Pythias and Masonic ball are on sale at the different drug stores in the city, where they can be obtained by any person who has received an invitation.

The ball given by the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Gardner Hall on Wednesday evening was a grand success, and the merry throng of dancers enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent.

A very pleasant dancing party was given at the residence of Geo. Frost, at Pine Lake on the Pine River road, last Friday evening, about 40 couples being present. A very pleasant time was enjoyed.

W. E. Seeley, while in St. Paul Monday, closed a government contract for surveying in the northern part of the state, and will leave to begin the work in a day or two. He will be absent nearly two months.

According to the Porham Bulletin Alex. Van Praag has entered into an arrangement with the proprietors of the opera houses at Little Falls, Brainerd, Wadena and Detroit, and will furnish them with companies.

In speaking of the Shedy matter the Little Falls Transcript says: "The proceedings under which he was released were entirely proper, and the authorities of this state had no right to keep Shedy in custody under the circumstances."

Rev. T. Tonnason, who has for some time past had charge of the Norwegian Lutheran Churches at Brainerd, Long Lake and Little Falls is no longer in this field, and his successor has not yet been selected. Until the vacancy is regularly filled it is expected that the church authorities at Minneapolis will see that the local pulpit is supplied.—Transcript.

N. B. Chase will leave next week for his field of labor on the Chippewa reservation, he having received his commission and qualified for the position. The work, if done in a thorough, systematic manner, will take from four to six years to complete. The gentlemen in charge of the work get $6 per day, and pay their own expenses.

A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson on Friday evening last at their residence on Fifth street south, and a very enjoyable time was the result. With the surprise came a nice easy chair which was given to Mrs. Wilson on behalf of those present by H. C. Stivers who made the presentation speech. Mr. Wilson was not overlooked in the matter, but was presented with a saw-buck of improved pattern, with instructions how to use it. The details were arranged by Ald. L. P. Johnson, and those present besides him were H. Patterson, A. Olson, D. McIntosh, N. J. Hatt, Henry Moberg, John Carlson, Jerry Crowley, H. C. Stivers, A. Rosenberg, Nels Peterson, Victor Gustafson, and Peter Lewis.

The citizens in this part of the state are desirous of seeing the game law lived up to but it seems that some combination of circumstances has led to a compromise with the Minneapolis end of the game commission in regard to the shipping of venison. The law states that the season closes on Nov. 25, and in accordance a number of saddles were seized by Deputy Game Warden Paine on Monday night at Staples and on Tuesday night A. F. Ferris, a member of the board, seized eight saddles at the express office in this city in compliance with the law and instructions from W. P. Anders, the executive agent. After this was done telegrams came from Mr. Anders, to return all seizures and let things take their course until late December. As the law is perfectly clear on the subject, Mr. Ferris was somewhat wroth at receiving notice one day to enforce the law, and the next day to overlook the violations. The end is not yet.

A Pleasant Anniversary.

The members of St. Andrews society celebrated their anniversary last evening by a ball and banquet in the Columbian block, nearly 300 invited guests being present. The occasion was one of unusual interest and enjoyment, and the members of the society are to be congratulated over the manner in which they entertained their guests at their first "Hagia." As stated on the invitations supper was served at 9 o'clock, and during the interval between that and the dancing a very fine musical program was rendered, and speeches were made by the president of the society, Dr. G. S. McPherson, Wm. Williamson, C. D. Johnson, Mayor Hemsted and H. C. Stivers. The floor was then cleared and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The society in Brainerd is composed of about fifty-five members, and while the organization is scarcely ten months' old its growth is steady and the treasury is in excellent condition. The object of the organization is to advance the interests of Scotchmen, assist the indigent of that nationality and also to instill an interest in Scotch games and music. The officers now elected are:

President—Dr. G. S. McPherson.
First Vice President—W. Williamson.
Second Vice President—Kenneth McDonald.
Secretary—A. G. Miteche.
Treasurer—Larry McPherson.

Wedded.
The wedding of Mr. Charles Lightfoot to Miss Kittie Meekins occurred Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, at St. Francis Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating, the ceremony being followed with High Mass. The church was well filled with friends of the young couple, who had assembled to witness the ceremony. The bride was charmingly attired in light blue silk, trimmed with brocade and pearls and carried a garland of roses. The bride was attended by Miss Aggie Meekins and Miss Maggie Johnson. The groom was attended by Hon. W. Hemsted and P. Thieland. The bride and groom are both well known to most of our readers, the former being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meekins, of East Brainerd, the groom being a fireman in the employ of the Northern Pacific company. After the ceremony the party partook of a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, and started for their new home in St. Paul on the noon train followed by the well wishes of the entire community. Several very nice wedding gifts were tendered them.

Charles G. Holmstrom and Miss Betsy Pherson were married last Saturday by Rev. A. F. Nelson.

Beaver Broke His Thumb.

The 20 round glove contest advertised to take place at the Olympic Theatre on Wednesday night, resulted in a victory for Fitzpatrick in the second round, his opponent, Thos. Beaver, breaking his right thumb, and being unable to continue the fight. The first round of the fight is said to have been a very clever exhibition, and those who witnessed it expected to see a determined contest, as both men showed that they were well up in the pugilistic art. At the close of the second round, which was hard fought, Beaver's right thumb was injured to such an extent that he was unable to continue, and the referee, Thos. Cavanaugh, gave the fight to Fitzpatrick. The audience, although not large, was sorely disappointed at this termination of affairs, and many thought the injury was merely a blind but such was not the case as the following affidavit will show:

BRAINERD, Nov. 30, 1893.

To whom it may concern:
This is to certify that I have this day examined the right hand of Thos. Beaver, and find that the metacarpal bone of the thumb on said right hand is broken. A. F. GAVES, M. D.
Fitzpatrick stated to the audience that he much desired to have a second contest with McElroy and gave it out cold that if he did he would win.

Beaver claims he would have bested Fitzpatrick but for the accident, and has issued a challenge to fight him for $100 anywhere after the month of December.

Sudden Post-Office Change.

On Sunday last after the shades of night had fallen the Brainerd post-office was removed from its location in the Sliip-Atterton block, to a location in the Gallup building on 7th street, and people who came down town Monday morning for their mail were confronted with a bare room. But then the Brainerd public is getting used to such things, and it didn't take long to locate the office, for the DISPATCH had given a note of warning in its last issue, although it had stated on good authority that the change would not take place until Dec. 1st. While there is an undercurrent of sentiment that does not approve of the manner in which the shift was made, and a deep muttering from people who declare that they will see whether these things can be done in opposition to their wishes, it is not expected that there will be any serious outcome.

The fire department was called out last night at 10:30 to a blaze on south Sixth street in a dwelling owned by A. Wolvert. The house was occupied by a boy who was rooming there and the fire occurred from a defective chimney. The fire practically ruined the house although the department did effective work and extinguished the blaze before the building was entirely destroyed.

An Inside Ice Rink.

F. A. Farrar and W. A. M. Johnston will undertake to give the Brainerd public some indoor amusement on ice during the coming winter months, and accordingly have flooded the large roller rink at the corner of 6th and Kingwood streets, it being the intention to have the place ready for those who love to skate in a day or two. The floor has been given a thorough soaking with linseed oil, after which about three inches of saw dust was covered over it and frozen by degrees in order to keep the water from soaking through and running out when the flooding took place. The present cold snap came just in time, and the proprietors are assured of an excellent quality of ice. The place will be a very popular resort, and the gentlemen connected with it will see that it is run in an orderly manner.

J. F. McGinnis & Co.'s Xmas offering to their customers—a ticket on a beautiful $35.00 side board with each $1.00 cash purchase.

Deaths.

The funeral of Miss Maudie Scobie, aged 19 years, and who died at Duluth of heart disease on Monday last, was held in this city on Wednesday from the Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. Lynch, officiating. The young lady was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Scobie, and formerly resided in this city.
